EDITION 3 - AUGUST 2023

PRIORITY FOR SUSTAINABILITY AND APPRECIATION FOR THE LOCAL ECONOMY

The organizers of The Amazon and New Economies International Conference have been committed to hold an event that is as sustainable as possible. Even the bag and gifts that will be distributed to participants follow this criterion.

The bags that will be delivered to participants, for example, are being made from the reuse of uniforms donated by three mining companies — Hochschild, Mosaic and Largo. In addition to fabric reuse, the ecobags are being sewn by former inmates of the prison system who have given new meaning to their own lives.

The gifts, on the other hand, value biodiversity and Amazonian flavors. Conference participants will receive products from Manioca, a local company which stands out for the quality and variety of its items, such as grains, spices, sauces and seeds.

JOURNALISTS CAN NOW REGISTER TO COVER THE CONFERENCE

Press professionals interested in covering The Amazon and New Economies International Conference have until August 25th to apply for vacancies through a specific form available on the event's website. Those who have their application approved will receive, by email, details of the event and further information on the procedures that should be adopted on the occasion.

The validation of the accreditation is necessary given the limit of physical space, in addition to taking into account security issues and the need to ensure the diversity of media outlets.
